A letter to a friend giving him an account of the match witnessed by you

My dear Surendra,

I have not received your letter for a pretty long time. I hope you will be enjoying good health. Yesterday I witnessed a football match between Ramjas College and Hindu College. It was an exciting match. The match was well contested by both parties. The teams were equally strong. There were loud cheers of Hurrah from the supporters of both colleges.

The team of Ramjas College rose to the occasion and played more vigorously than before. They scored a goal in no time. The team of Hindu College tried its best but did not succeed in scoring a goal. Thus the team of Ramjas College carried the day. Everybody praised the players of the Ramjas team. A good refreshment to the players of both the teams was served by the management. No doubt it was a well-contested match I have ever witnessed.

Yours sincerely

RAMESH CHANDRA
